

helping bloomington monroe.org

is an online social services database that contains over 1,700 free and reduced-cost programs serving Bloomington and Monroe County. This new resource will allow individuals to easily and discreetly find assistance with housing, transportation, legal services, mental health support, and much more.

The website is a result of a partnership between the Bloomington Health Foundation, the City of Bloomington, and the Local Council of Women. It is modeled and administered by a Texas-based company known as Aunt Bertha.

To begin a search, simply visit the website and enter your zip code. Results can then be filtered by category.

how you can help

CLAIM OR CREATE YOUR LISTING

Are you part of an organization that provides social services?

Visit helpingbloomingtonmonroe.auntbertha.com/find\_a\_program

Enter your information in the fields and we'll check to see if it's already listed so you can claim it.

If it is not listed, you'll be able to suggest that we add the program.

ADD THE SEARCH BOX TO YOUR WEBSITE

Adding the HBM search box to your website is easy. Simply copy/paste the code below into the back end of your site:

<iframe src="https://www.aunt-bertha.com/widget/v2/helping-bloomingtonmonroe?ref=bloomingtonhf&btn_color=ef4d26" width="100%" frameborder="0" scrolling="no"></iframe>

TIP: Want to change the color of the button? Replace ef4d26 with the hex color code of your choice!
